WEEK 7 HOMEWORK

For this week, try to do the following:

1. Print out and post the 'Drying Off' domain in your restroom and reclaim this domain for txʷəlšucid.
2. There are not yet any materials on the website about "Drying Off" so try to use what words you already know to talk about your body parts. Use ʰəʔ to say that this or that is sore, use ʔiqʷ to wipe something (like your face), use t'əs to say you have cold feet or whatever.
3. Work in the "čad kʷ(i) adsʔuʰšʷ" conversation throughout your day. Ask your kids, ask your coworkers, ask your cat! If you or they don't know the txʷəlšucid word for something, just use English for now. Ask me for the txʷəlšucid next week.
4. Review the video class recording on YouTube. I will send you all the link via email.
5. Beyond studying, try to use the txʷəlšucid for thirty minutes every day.
6. Keep track of how much you use txʷəlšucid every day.
